Scope

All Indiana University units providing faculty with research funding.

Business Practice Statement

Budgeting funds associated with faculty research funding.

Reason for Business Practice

To establish a uniform budgeting process for budgeting faculty research funding to better align the budget with university-funded research activity.

Procedure to Address

Faculty Research Funding Faculty research funding is typically recorded in designated faculty research accounts. With all funds budgeting the objective is to capture the funding associated with the anticipated expense in the budget. Faculty research funding and spending may be aggregated in one account at the RC level.

Definition

Faculty Research Funding The objective of faculty research accounts is to provide university funding to enhance and support faculty activities, including research and creative initiatives.
